

CONTEXT

Young people in general, and NEETs in particular, need support in identifying and developing various skills that are essential for their personal and professional growth.

High global unemployment rates and even higher youth unemployment rates have led to the expansion of the NEET population.

OBJECTIVES

- Learn more in order to better assist, identifying different profiles of NEETs with varying needs in terms of psychological and professional support in each partner country.

- Support NEETs in discovering their strengths, increasing their self-awareness, and building their self-esteem to create a career path and act accordingly.

- Provide support and recommendations for learning new skills and adapting to the changing demands of the job market.

- Assist them in acquiring the necessary skills to find employment or start their own business and equip them with entrepreneurship, work readiness, and financial literacy skills through our training programs.

- Help them uncover their inner vocation that can fuel their inner drive.

- Enhance and promote informal learning methods (peer-to-peer, experiential learning, experiential learning, spiral progression) to better adapt to the social and economic inclusion process of NEETs.

- Guide young workers in using entrepreneurship training tools and methods for NEETs.

- Encourage relevant stakeholders to collaborate on policies and programs that facilitate the entry of NEETs into the economic life and prevent prolonged unemployment.
