Video Production Update: ANIMATOPEDIA is bringing important topics to life through animated, interactive videos with alternative endings. These videos are designed to educate, raise awareness, and promote a safe and respectful environment, covering various forms of harassment and discrimination. Here's a glimpse of what's been happening:

WHI: Tackling Workplace Harassment and School Harassment

SYNTHESIS: Addressing Harassment in LGBTQ+ Communities and Sports

FAJUB: Shedding Light on Racial and Religion Harassment

TIA: Confronting Online Harassment and Harassment Based on Disabilities

Each video follows a structured format, featuring introductions, main content, and conclusions to ensure maximum impact and engagement. We're committed to creating content that resonates with our audience and fosters positive change in society.

Training Guidelines and Webinar Development:

Our collaborative efforts continue to focus on the development of training guidelines and webinar content, crucial components of the ANIMATOPEDIA project. These resources are designed to educate youth workers and young people on important topics such as gender equality, discrimination, and harassment. We greatly value the input and expertise of all partners in shaping these materials to ensure they are not only effective but also impactful.

Together, we are working towards creating resources that will make a real difference in promoting inclusivity and equality.
